Scattered, Smothered, Covered, Chunked, Topped, Diced & Peppered American free rock from a Clinton era three piece. Harry Pussy left Miami rug burn on modern music in the 90's. The early period of this band introduced a free range panic attack with a distinctly wiry wiggle. As the band progressed, and they did like a monkey virus hopping cage to cage, they stepped things to a frothy thug level. Look at the songs, feel the vibration, stroke the leather. Songs on this release span the years after their "Ride a Dove" era and feature a few covers (Nip Drivers, Kraftwerk, Teenage Jesus and the Jerks).

This stuff was recorded in 1997 at various locations but really exists in a timeless void unlike little else before or after. -Plenty of outfits have sucked the blood from this raw nipple and come back with five o'clock shadows leaving little facial semblance of the original hamburger that this Miami trio laid out for a confused nation punch drunk on Spice Girls and Archers of Loaf. Come into the buffet and gorge on the real-deal, all-you-can-eat headburn this disc offers you: a time capsule that offers promise for future times and possibilities.

Recommended for those seeking spicy food, experimental aircraft and adventurous game-play.
